Bio

Irina Berkon is the Chief Financial Officer of Metallicus, a San Francisco-based leader in digital asset technology. Under her leadership, Metallicus has made remarkable progress in bridging the gap between cryptocurrency and traditional finance, building the infrastructure needed for regulated, real-time payments and digital asset innovation.

Irina immigrated to the United States at fourteen and later earned a degree in Business Management, Economics, and Accounting from the University of California, Santa Cruz. She launched her career in finance as a CPA, spending nine years as an auditor at Grant Thornton. In 2014, she played a key role in taking marketing technology firm TubeMogul public through its IPO.

In addition to her responsibilities at Metallicus, Irina is also a Managing Director at Golden Seeds, an angel investor network dedicated to funding women-led companies and creating opportunities for women disrupting their industries.
